

Who we do it for

And what they have to say about us...

"After running my own small creative business for many years, I'd got into a familiar role with comfortable habits. When the time came to take a big change in direction, I felt quite at sea in seeking to present myself to an entirely new market. The guidance I received from Chantelle at Alternetworks has been a key driver in reframing my identity. Thank you."

Creative Director, Morph! Training

"I have been delighted with the contribution that Alternetworks have made to our business. In particular the team have not only worked on the basis of a set brief but have also integrated into our management team and have been proactive in recommending business improvement solutions outside the original scope of specific projects. This has proved to be extremely beneficial as the Alternetworks team have taken the time to understand our business and proactively look for ways in which their expertise in both Marketing and Information Technology can bring tangible benefits.

Alternetworks have now been working with us for over 12 months and have always delivered value by looking closely at the business case, contributing to the strategic decision making process and then managing the implementation through to delivery whether it has been the development of marketing tools for our customers, consumer web sites or technical IT infrastructure. Their wide range of knowledge and expertise has proved invaluable to our business and we look forward to a long term business relationship with this company."
